

FaF – et arkæologisk aktiv igennem 27 år

Abstract

FaF – an archaeological asset through 27 years

*FaF serves as a network for all professionally trained archaeologists in Denmark, regardless of their affiliation or employment status. Founded in 1997, FaF emerged as a response to the uncertain job prospects facing archaeologists after finishing university studies. Through symposiums and publications in its journal, Arkæologisk Forum, FaF has facilitated discussions on current archaeological research, and the interests of archaeology in society. Despite significant improvements in recent years, challenges for archaeologists remain. FaF continues to serve as a platform for knowledge sharing, professional networking, and advocacy, aiming to support and strengthen the archaeological profession in Denmark.*

Ulla Odgaard

